

The Allies Workshop

The Allies Training, created by Survivor Alliance, is aimed at educating allies on ethical and equitable engagement with survivors as colleagues.

It addresses the growing interest in survivor engagement within anti-trafficking circles and the need to prevent harm and re-traumatization. The training is particularly beneficial for individuals seeking to transition from treating survivors as beneficiaries to working with survivors as colleagues but have experienced barriers in accessing the fundamental knowledge and basic tools to do so. This is a good starting place for people who want to supervise survivors as consultants and interns.

Who is this training for?

This training is tailored to individual learning for organizations engaging with survivors as colleagues through employment or consultancy. It is also perfect for organizations involved in anti-trafficking work that have fewer than 15 people who are making it a priority to work with lived experience professionals.

This particular training is designed to accommodate those who would like the education but currently have limited funding for the in-depth Live- Facilitated version of the Allies Training, making it possible to advance toward survivor inclusion.

Understanding Allyship
and Survivor Engagement

Self-Directed Training

What do we mean when we say Allies?

When we say “Allies” we refer to those who do not have lived experience of human trafficking and who function within the anti-trafficking sector and inter-sectional work as advocates to survivors of all forms of human trafficking and modern slavery.
